DUST MITES: A THREAT TO YOUR FAMILY'S HEALTH

Dust mites favour warm, humid climates. They thrive in your beds, pillows, upholstery, curtains, carpets and in any fixture in your home that traps dust.

Dust mites feed on human skin, fungi growing on the skin, moulds and household dust. In fact, one gram of human skin can feed thousands of dust mites for months!

They are carriers of allergies like runny noses, watery eyes, itchiness on the skin and even asthma!

Dust mites can be removed by vacuum cleaning.

- Dust mites are health threatening microscopic creatures that can cause severe allergies. A single gram of dust could contain over 19,000 dust mites.
